IN THE WEAVE

Woven in the UK using eco-friendly materials and techniques, Fox Linton's textured wools for upholstery are made to last. There are seven designs named after Scottish locations, including the bouclé 'Iona' (below), in hues inspired by the landscape. From £204 per metre (foxlinton.com).

CONSTELLATION CHIC

Columbian interior designer Juan Montoya has joined forces with Stepevi to produce a new lunar-inspired range of rugs that are truly out of this world. The surface of the moon was a strong influence on Montoya's work: 'Its asymmetrical form always intrigued me and put my imagination in a cosmic state,' he says. The four designs in the 'Moonlight' range all feature motifs of the universe, but the star, in our opinion, is the 'Moon Island Rug' (above). £2,300 (stepevi.com).

DIAMONDS FOREVER

Studio Art's luxurious leather wallcoverings now come in diamond-shaped tiles, made to order in Italy, in a range of ten colours. Their 3D forms create striking light and shade effects. 'Neige', from £617 per tile (studioart.it).

MAKE SHAPES

Domus's 'Geometrica' tiles feature graphic forms that reference the work of the Bauhaus movement and the architecture of Pierre Chareau – think creatively arranged circles and tessellated triangles. Choose from nine designs in a wide range of colours. From £119.10 per square metre (domustiles.co.uk).
